

Cultural Antique Arts Exhibition.

On the exhibition, he gave his total support to the cultural arts event organised by Federation of Guang Dong Community Association Sarawak, in collaboration with Pustaka Miri.

"By looking at these antique cultural arts collections, the people are actually learning about the culture of other people.

"These antique collections actually are telling you the history of civilisation of particular communities from various countries."

On this concern, he reminded people who have such antiques, which they inherited or which were passed down from generation to generation, on the need to keep such items in good condition.

"Some people might think certain items kept by their forefathers, such as copperwares, are junk. But to antique collectors, these items are valuable assets. Thus if you have such antique items, you are welcome to contribute the items to the museum for public exhibit."

Also present were exhibition organising chairman Soo Mei Kong and Pustaka Miri's regional manager Salina Zawawi.

SHARE THIS

Related News

- De Develop heritage sites to boost tourism - Lee
- Pr Proposed cultural, heritage museum to be ready soon
- Or Opening of new museum set for this Sept
- Re Resident's, DO building to become a museum

What do you think of this story?

We encourage commenting on our stories to give readers a chance to express their opinions; please refrain from vulgar language, insidious, seditious or slanderous remarks. While the comments here reflect the views of the readers, they are not necessarily that of Borneo Post Online. Borneo Post Online reserves the right not to publish or to remove comments that are offensive or volatile.